

Kenrick Financial Ledger, 1842-1848

FNCL/219

This financial ledger records the daily expenses and receipts, as well as a handful of personal or institutional accounts. The "Cash and Contra" pages record receipts and expenses for hired work, sundries, building repairs, travel, etc. These finances are presumably for the Archbishop's residence, which would have included administrative functions for the archdiocese.

The handwriting needs to be examined more closely to determine the authors. Bishop Joseph Rosati recorded the first 9 pages of the ledger. After page 9, there appear to be two or more writers, one of who is likely Peter Richard Kenrick, who was consecrated Co-Adjutor to Bishop Rosati in November 30, 1842.
